1. Purpose. Air Force Reserve personnel are within the active duty sanctuary zone established by Title 10, United States Code, when they have accumulated sufficient active duty points to equal 18-20 years of active duty. The Air Force monitors and restricts the number of personnel on extended active duty. The Air Force Reserve is a part of and supports that effort. This directive establishes requirements for administering the active duty sanctuary policy.

1.1. HQ AFRC/DP identifies affected personnel.

1.2. Identified personnel will not perform active duty (other than for training) if they are in the zone or, upon completion of the tour, they would be in the zone.

1.3. Training Category Code (TCC) is the means used to determine whether or not contemplated active duty is for training.

1.4. This directive does not deny, restrict, or hinder required training of any Air Force reservist (unit training assemblies, annual training, additional flying training, etc.).

2. Responsibilities:

2.1. Headquarters Air Force Reserve is responsible for policy oversight and advocacy of the active duty sanctuary monitoring program and for interface with the HQ USAF staff concerning development of related Department of Defense (DoD) policy and legislative initiatives.

2.2. Commanders execute programs to ensure compliance with policies regarding sanctuary zone management and inform all affected individuals of the policies contained in this directive. One hundred percent compliance is the only acceptable peacetime standard.

3. Compliance. Compliance with sanctuary zone monitoring policy is assessed by comparing the number of cases forwarded to the Secretary of the Air Force for approval to retain on active duty to number of personnel monitored. Data is obtained from the Advanced Personnel Data System (APDS).
